Bethel Park renovations to start in February

Renovations for Bethel Park are set to start in February with the official closure to the public starting February 5th.

After many months of preparation, the city is moving forward with Baker Grading to begin the renovation and repair process for Bethel Park. Flooding issues within the park prompted these renovations and repairs. The city is taking these steps to help resolve the flooding issues and to make other improvements as well. Stream restoration, park improvements, new playground equipment, relocation of the dog park, new picnic shelter, new walking track with workout stations and new bridges entering the park are among the list of updates.

A reopen date is not available at this time, but renovations are anticipated to take up to one year. The city will keep the public updated with periodic updates during the renovation process through the city website and social media. While these renovations are being made, please enjoy the City of Morganton's other beautiful public parks including Catawba Meadows, Freedom Park, Carbon City Park, Drexel Heritage Park, Martin Luther King Jr. Park and Martha's Park.

"This project has been a long-time coming and we are thrilled that the time has come to restore Bethel Park and make it better than it ever has been for our community."

- Sally Sandy, City Manager

A BEAUTIFUL MORGANTON STARTS HERE ...

Arbor Day in North Carolina is designated as the first Friday following March 15. This precedes National Arbor Day, which is not until the last Friday of April. For NC, March tends to be a more forgiving time for plant survival as temperatures can become too high by late April.

Tree plantings should be kept at least 30 feet away from overhead power lines. If closer, trees should not mature more than 15 feet tall.

How To Plant A Tree from the NCUFC website

Ready to plant your tree? The first thing you need to do is to determine what you want the tree to do for you.

- A large tree to provide shade?
- An ornamental tree with beautiful flowers, leaves, or bark?
- A tree with dense leaves or needles to act as a windbreak or screen?
- A deciduous tree that cools the house in the summer and drops its leaves in the fall so the winter sun can warm the house?
- A tree that bears fruit for you or attracts wildlife?

Answering these questions can help determine where to locate a tree and what type of tree you want or need. You also need to determine if the tree needs full sun, partial shade (like dogwood), or a wetter environment (like weeping willow). For help with selecting high-quality nursery stock, refer to the NC Urban Forest Council's handy Tree Owner's Manual.

The Conceptual Growth Strategy is an important step on the path to creating Morganton's new Future Land Use Map. The strategy features a map that reflects current trends and influences on future development first introduced in the Community Characteristics Report. The map also reflects the feedback received from the community, stakeholders, City staff, the Planning and Zoning Commission, and City Council. The Conceptual Growth Strategy serves as the first glimpse of how Morganton's approach toward land use can fulfill the intent of the Vision and Planning Principles.

City, county installs new windows on Historic Burke County Courthouse

If you have driven by the Historic Burke County Courthouse in the past few weeks, you may have noticed something different about the more than a century old building. In a joint effort by Burke County Government and the City of Morganton, the windows of the courthouse have been upgraded and replaced. The windows are now double pane and tempered on the bottom level. City of Morganton Public Works department contracted with Home Solutions to help with the installation. The city's electric department provided a bucket truck to help the contractor reach the high windows. Upgrades and maintenance of the courthouse is an ongoing process with several more projects coming up in the near future including a new membrane on the "cupola" or top dome of the courthouse, wood repair and replacement, and painting the exterior of the building.

Michael Chapman, Public Works Director for the City of Morganton, said "It is a historic building and in the heart of downtown Morganton, so it is important to make sure it is kept in great condition."

Linda Lindsey, past president and current treasurer of the Historic Burke Foundation said, "The replacement windows in the Old Burke County Courthouse have made a transformational difference in the appearance, inside and outside, of this beautiful and historic building. They also have significantly increased the amount of sunlight that comes in through the windows and the brighter interior on both floors is very welcome..."
